

Student Clubs and Organizations

Campus Election Engagement Project (CEEP) is excited to partner with Every Vote Counts (EVC) on creating and enhancing student clubs and organizations centered around electoral engagement. EVC is a student-led, nonpartisan organization dedicated to increasing voter turnout and expanding voter access nationwide.

What can EVC offer CEEP Fellows looking to start campus organizations?

EVC can offer access to an online collection of resources like chapter manuals, club charters and guides to working with different stakeholders on campus. This includes first steps to finding a board and navigating the club approval process. The overall goal is to help students get an impactful and sustainable student organization started on campus.

The partnership will help Fellows with the following:

- Dive deeper into board structure, including position descriptions and the recruitment of new members;
- Provide examples of club constitutions and bylaws;
- Create chapter-wide initiatives and club meeting agendas;
- Make connections to other students who have experience in starting and building campus organizations;
- Produce a timeline of success by looking at how to keep members engaged through events; and
- Build a coalition and learn how to utilize campus funding.

How do I get started?

Your CEEP State Director can put you in contact with EVC, or you may contact their Executive Director, Campbell Streater, directly at campbell@evcnational.org.

Does this count as my institutional project?

Yes! Creating a nonpartisan student organization places a stamp of long-term engagement on your campus.

For more information on CEEP, visit campuselect.org.
For more information on EVC, visit evcnational.org.